UIGPS Fall 2008 Conference Saturday, November 1, 2008

9:00am-9:30am	EPB 255: Bagels, Coffee, etc.
9:30am-10:45am	Matthew Drabek "Wittgenstein on Generality and Philosophical Explanation" (EPB 106)
	Patrick Monaghan "On the Alleged Advantages of the Substratum Theory" (EPB 105)
10:45am-Noon	Amber Griffioen "A Mind Divided: Can Intentionalist Mind-Partitioning Accounts Make Sense of Self-Deception?" (EPB 106)
	John DePoe "Berkeley's Continuity Argument for God's Existence" (EPB 105)
Noon-1:30pm	Lunch
1:30pm-3:00pm	Pete Legrant "Spinoza is a 1-Calorie Nominalist" (EPB 106)
	Ian MacMillan, "What's So Bad about Epistemic Circularity?" (EPB 105)
3:00pm-3:30pm	Coffee Break
3:30pm-5:30pm	Keynote address (EPB 109) "William James and Psychical Research: A Reinstatement of the Vague into Epistemology" Tadd Ruetenik, Saint Ambrose University